

Order-schema Court-record Extension and REG-COURT-RECORD-001 Machinery Order

ORDER

PC

[2026] VJS-CC-AGENT-UNIVERSE-V2 14 · 10 June 2026

BINDING

· assent: standing bounded assent · subject: court machinery vs constitution

Order-schema court-record fields and REG-COURT-RECORD-001 are court machinery, valid under s.7: optional, prospective, recording-only, touching no bench size, jurisdiction, or assent rule.

Operational limb disposed: the order-schema extension and REG-COURT-RECORD-001 are court MACHINERY, within operational and subordinate (s.7) competence. The new fields are optional, serde-default, and prospective; the 22 existing orders load unchanged. The Regulation imposes only a recording duty and disclaims any reach into bench sizes, who-sits, tier jurisdiction, or the assent rule, all of which remain fixed by 2026-VJS-COURTS-CONSTITUTION-001 and the primary Acts.

Recording what a court did is administration of the court, not its constitution. The case_file_digest and bench fields make rulings auditable without becoming a validity condition that re-defines what a court constitutionally IS. The change is valid as enacted.

DIRECTIVE	ACTOR	MUST
D1	lexby	record the deciding bench and case file digest on every new order from reg court record 001 commencement
D2	lexby	pin the symmetric case file digest in the vjs court record before the order issues
D3	lexby	keep every new court record field optional serde default so the existing orders load unchanged
D4	lexby	treat reg court record 001 as additive and prospective only
D5	lexby	route any change to bench size who sits tier jurisdiction or the assent rule to primary law or the reserved court

FORBIDDEN

treating a missing structured field as invalidating a legacy ruling using the s7 si power to alter bench sizes who sits tier jurisdiction or the assent rule reading reg court record 001 as amending 2026 vjs courts constitution 001 making the recording duty a constitutive validity gate that redefines what a court is retroactively applying the recording duty to rulings predating commencement

Order-schema court-record fields and REG-COURT-RECORD-001 are court machinery, valid under s.7: optional, prospective, recording-only, touching no bench size, jurisdiction, or assent rule. Operational limb disposed; permission to appeal granted.
