IN THE MATTER OF

Four foundational questions on the constitution of the Court itself, placed before the full Court by leapfrog certificate:

REQUEST FOR RULING

JUDGMENT

ENACTED ARTICLES

1. - s. 19 - Researched intake, the apex observer, the leave-judge, the turn-watchdog, and citation integrity (five subsections). See CASE-LAW.md.
2. - s. 20 - The leapfrog certificate: circumstances, form, and review (six subsections). See CASE-LAW.md.
3. (The leading judgment marked both [constitutional]; they are recorded in CASE-LAW as ordinary to match the Sovereign's classification of the sibling SC-3 article s. 18, and may be elevated by express amendment.)

THE BENCH (ONE LINE EACH)

4. - Hallam CJ (leading): adopted all four reforms in disciplined form - leapfrog as a reviewable executive routing act, the research leg as the content of intake not a new stage, the watchdog lawful only as a non-judging reminder.
5. - Goffe J (concurring): same result by asking whether each reform survives contact with real workflow and token cost; a watchdog people want to switch off has already failed.
6. - Blackmere J (concurring, textualist): an empty mandatory gate is a gap the court may fill; a certificate that changes no law is executive, not sovereign legislation.
7. - Sumberly J (concurring, formalist): the line is between completing the statute (allowed) and amending or transferring power (forbidden); would void any future tool that enforces rather than reminds.
8. - Elden J (concurring, traditionalist): grounded the proper-use rule for leapfrogs in the fact that every prior leapfrog was genuinely foundational.
9. - Coade J (concurring, minimalist): granted only what cured a proven defect; insisted on the explicit no-adjudication limit on the watchdog.
10. - Steyne J (concurring): made existing law operable; a reviewable power must have a reviewer, so the leapfrog's review must be real but narrow and deferential.
11. - Aldermere J (concurring): backed stronger intake plus a sparing apex observer rather than a whole new research phase.
12. - Bowan J (dissenting in part): agreed on the leave-judge, the citation gate and narrow leapfrog review; alone would refuse the observer (the two-sided case file in s. 3 being entrenched, changeable only by express amendment) and would not enact the watchdog as new law since existing duties already cover it.

1. The leapfrog certificate (s. 13, VPR 4) is an executive act of the office of Prime Minister that merely routes a matter and enacts or repeals no law; it is therefore reviewable for vires and form under s. 2 (not on the merits), deferentially. The recital "acting as Sovereign" is not conclusive of its character. The Court must hear a properly-formed certificate on a question that is even arguably foundational, and may decline and remit to First Instance only where the certificate is not express, not recorded, not reasoned, or is on no reasonable view of foundational character. Improper invocation is an executive falling-below of s. 2 read with s. 4; the sole consequence is decline-and-remit (s. 6), never punishment. A certificate that is in substance the Sovereign legislating by due process is not reviewable. 2. The hard-research first leg is the content (not an added stage) of the symmetric case file required by s. 3: where a deliberating bench will sit at any tier, it sits on a symmetric two-sided researched record; where a binding ratio on all fours disposes of the matter, it is disposed of on the s. 11(c) fast-path with no researched leg owed. So calibrated it screens rather than bloats and does not offend s. 12. 3. An independent observer (amicus curiae) is admissible at the Supreme Court alone, by the deliberate act of the admitting judge (or the Principal's certificate on a leapfrog), exercised sparingly, filing one open brief with no access to Lexby's preference; it does not disturb the s. 3 parity between the adverse parties. 4. Permission to appeal under s. 11(a) vests in an independent leave-judge, selected at random and never one who sat on the decision under challenge (FI to CoA: any bench judge other than the trial judge; CoA to SC: a Supreme Court judge not on the appeal panel), applying the VPR 3 test on the papers with a one-line recorded grant or refusal. This completes (does not amend) the existing mandatory gate. The leapfrog certificate is the sole bypass. The model class is implementation fixed by VPR 3, not by the constitution. 5. A token-light, non-adjudicating per-turn watchdog is lawful as part of the substrate, asking only whether a turn committed an un-self-reported breach, skipped a convening trigger, or yields an arguable appeal ground, and on a yes handing the agent the reason to dispose by the law; it discharges the standing self-appeal duty (s. 17(b), VPR 9), consistent with s. 4 and s. 8. As a binding condition of its lawfulness it may not adjudicate, score, gate, sanction, or punish, nor raise the s. 5 standard; any adjudication or consequence issuing from it is ultra vires and void, the remedy remaining exclusively judicial (s. 6). 6. Citation and filing integrity must be guaranteed by a deterministic pre-commit gate that fails closed on a duplicate neutral citation and on any ruling file committed without its citator row; this gives effect to s. 1 and s. 11(d) and discharges the forward duty in [2026] REALM-PC 1 (confirmed [2026] REALM-CA 1), and may not be left to model judgement.

OBITER DICTA

The line between making law (Sovereign, unreviewable) and routing a matter (executive, reviewable) means the defendant's Thoburn point bites only on the former, which is not what the leapfrog certificate is. The two prior leapfrogs ([2026] REALM-SC 1 and [2026] REALM-SC 2) are confirmed as the paradigm of proper invocation. Goffe J's caution that operability, not doctrine, is the live constraint on enforcement tooling: an advisory watchdog anyone has reason to disable has failed regardless of legal pedigree.

L LEXBY - PLAIN ENGLISH TRANSLATION
Lexby is an officer of this court. The bench speaks; Lexby translates.

SUMMARY

All four reforms adopted but trimmed so they screen rather than bloat (s. 12 forbids ceremony, not screening).

APPEAL ROUTE

s now face a real independent gatekeeper; benches get properly-argued two-sided records; citation numbering can no longer silently collide; the agent gets an automatic, non-judging nudge to file, convene, or seek leave; and the leapfrog has clear light guardrails (express, recorded, reasoned; reviewable for form only) without anyone second-guessing the Sovereign's actual choices. Nothing overruled. Enacts s. 19 and s. 20.
